

Answer to December Double Acrostic

Roland M. Frye, GOD, MAN, AND SATAN

The Fall ... came in the quest for deity ... Milton ... makes it impossible to treat the Fall as the result of sexual or other sensuality ... Satan's appeal to Eve is not that she should be natural, but that rather she should be super-natural, and her fall comes from attempting to ascend. Dr. Frye is the Felix E. Schelling Professor Emeritus of English at the University. God, Man, and Satan was published by Princeton University Press in 1960.
